Distinctive Hawaiian Feast Is Provided: Army and Navy Well Represented

At a distinctively Havalian Juan, in the symbols of a past monarchy and Mr. Knox were the guests of honorlast evening of the Princess Kawananakoa. Not only was the affair graced by the chief cabinet officer of the Fresident, but by another of his fel-failane, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Becklow caninet officers, the Secretary of the Interior, Hon. Walter L. Fisher. The havy was represented by Reardant of the Honolulu naval station, and Rear-Admiral Reynolds, U. S. N., who has accompanied the Secretary of State on his visit to Japan, the army being represented by Col. Wilbur E. Wilder, commander of the cavalry at Leilehna.

The Territory was represented by the Governor, Hon, Walter Frear, and Secretary of the Territory, E. A. Mott-Smith; the Federal Government by Judge Sanford B. Dole and District Attorney R. W. Breckons.

The Princess met the Secretary of State while in the East a year ago, and it was a happy guidance which led the diplomat to the Hawaiian Isl-1 ands, and to be entertained at the home of Hawaii's beautiful representative of the dead monarchy.

The guests were received upon the broad lanai of the mansion by Hon.

The luau tables were set in the form of a large U and were beautiwaiian delicacies of mountain and sea. Mounds of fruits and bowls of flowers graced the tables, which was purely in setting.
